

The Therapy

- A conflict is found (by means of testing).
- On average each conflict is treated for a period of from one to four months (depending on the conflict origin and the patient's age).
- By the next testing session, this conflict has been eliminated and no longer testable; another conflict is found.
- On average, three to five conflicts per person are identified.
- The 28 conflicts are associated (via the Chakras) into groups that correspond to specific body regions. The therapy for a particular conflict also remedies the disturbance in the associated region.
- Depending on a patient's state and the severity of the disorder or disease, complete therapy can take from a few months to two years.

A properly performed professional treatment will completely eliminate a patient's conflict.

The success rate for common health disorders and diseases is more than 80%*.

In addition to curing chronic health disorders, conflict healing has a number of other invaluable benefits.

Through this method one can:

- Prevent the cause of diseases
- Increase the sense of well-being and psychoenergetic vigor
- Stimulate emotional/spiritual growth

Dr. Reimar Banis:
"I am personally convinced that, in the future, psychoenergetic treatment and the dissolution of conflicts will come to be a standard practice and the REBA® Test Device will soon be found in every medical practice, in the same manner as a sphygmomanometer (used for measuring blood pressure) is today."

Psychosomatic Energetics

Do you feel healthy, but would like to further develop your personal growth?

Do you not feel 100%, yet neither your family doctor nor medical specialists seem to be able to find anything "wrong" with you?

Is your health chronically disturbed, but all the treatments to date have been of little help?

Are you chronically ill and feel the need to try something that goes beyond conventional therapy?

Do you want to identify deep-seated disease causes and eliminate them?

Do your children behave in a manner that creates problems for you and as a result you find yourself at your wits' end?

Many health conditions and disorders - from asthma to ADHD in children - are often psychoenergetic in origin.

The problem is that people often react negatively to conventional therapeutic alternatives offered - medication and/or psychotherapy. The former can have unwanted side effects, there can be a stigma attached to being on medication for a long period of time (or life) and drugs often don't actually resolve the fundamental and underlying problem. Whereas the latter, psychotherapeutic treatment, can be stressful, often produces uncertain results and can be of long duration.

But now there is an alternative:

Psychosomatic Energetics is a successful method developed by the German physician, Dr. Reimar Banis, as a result of his naturopathic work with thousands of patients.

Through his research and clinical studies, Dr. Banis determined that psychosomatic health and behavioral disorders originate from 28 different conflicts that take up residence in the human energy field (Aura).

In collaboration with Dieter Jossner, a noted biophysicist, Dr. Banis developed the REBA® Test Device, with which these conflicts can be identified.

Dr. Banis also developed the corresponding homeopathic mixtures to permanently eliminate these conflicts.

Conflicts are "energy suction pumps" that drain away some of our vital energy, making us feel weak and worn out. Since these conflicts remain suppressed (located at the subconscious level), we often do not know the real reason why we feel so listless and lacking in life.

Background:

As long as a person can be superficially considered to be physically healthy and mentally normal, his or her conflicts are well integrated and in many cases, barely testable psychoenergetically. Nevertheless, over the long run, these conflicts can often cause a person to become sick, as they subliminally engender energetic weakness. If this situation continues for very long, it can provoke chronic ailments and lead to an acceleration of the aging process.

In reality, since we can not run away from our problems, ultimately it is a lot wiser to deal with them while one is still mentally strong enough to do so and before any overt ailments have surfaced.

One can think of these conflicts as being similar to computer viruses or worms. In the same manner as a computer virus and worm can damage a computer's operating system or in some cases critically disrupt an entire electronic or telecommunications system, so to are energy blocks able to have a disruptive effect on the human organism's overall state of health.

Besides healing successes for existing health disorders or diseases, one can also observe astonishing changes in many patients.

They come across as emotionally more open, feel better and manifest their personality in a clearer manner. All this is evident in a firmer voice, more candid facial expressions and greater purpose of being.

They appear to be more grounded, self-assured and happier. They have a better feel for their own needs and have greater mental strength to focus on achieving their own desires.

Also their true personality develops and is presented to others more clearly.
